SOLICITING BAN EFFECTIVE FRIDAY AFTER MID-NIGHT

Restrict Lodging House Runners From Plying "Trade" In Central Part Of Town.

Gettysburg's new ordinance to curb soliciting for hotels, lodging houses, boarding houses, restaurants and garages becomes effective at midnight Friday, ten days after the last date of the advertisement of the statute.

The ordinance, passed at a stormy session of council, September 2, after occupying time at various council meetings in the last eighteen months, prohibits soliciting within 100 feet of the building line of any hotel, boarding house, lodging house, restaurant or garage.

The measure was passed to break up the practice of solicitors going on the property of hotelmen, lodging house proprietors, restaurant owners and garagemen to persuade tourists away from the places they originally intended to patronize.

While the new ordinance places a certain check on unrestrained solicitation, it is not nearly so drastic as certain ordinances in Atlantic City, Niagara Falls and other tourist centers, which prohibit soliciting of all kinds.

Under the terms of the new ordinance, soliciting, except by guides, will be prohibited in Centre Square and on the first block of York, Carlisle, Baltimore and Chambersburg streets.

By reason of the interest aroused by the new measure, it is herewith given in full:

"Be it enacted and ordained by the burgess and town council of the Borough of Gettysburg, and it is hereby enacted and ordained by authority of the same:

"Section 1. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to solicit business for any hotel, boarding house, lodging house, restaurant or garage, at any point upon any of the streets, highways, side-walks, or pavements within the Borough of Gettysburg, within 100 feet of the building line of any hotel, boarding house, lodging house, restaurant or garage.

"Section 2. It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to solicit business for any hotel, boarding house, lodging house, restaurant or garage upon any of the streets or highways within the Borough of Gettysburg, but shall confine himself or themselves strictly to the side-walks or pavements, and shall be permitted to so solicit only upon such pavements or side-walks where the owners or occupants of the property abutting thereon have consented thereto.

"Section 3. Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall forfeit and pay a fine of not less than 5 Dollars, nor more than 10 Dollars, and costs, to be collected according to law.

"Section 4. All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

"ENACTED AND ORDAINED into an ordinance this 2nd day of September, A. D., 1927."

College May be Closed Monday For Plank Game

Gettysburg college may declare a holiday on Monday, October 3, to give the students an opportunity to attend the Philadelphia Athletics-Philadelphia Nationals baseball game, the proceeds of which will be turned over to the Eddie Plank memorial fund committee, to help pay for the $125,000 gymnasium already dedicated to the memory of the late Gettysburg hurler.

The college faculty will act on the matter of closing the college at a meeting scheduled for 4 o'clock this afternoon. It is believed certain that the faculty members will favor the holiday plan, out of tribute to the late hurler whose memory is being honored here, as well as out of respect to the two Philadelphia teams who are contributing their services toward the memorial fund.

Considerable enthusiasm is being manifested in the Quaker City over the approaching game and a large crowd is expected to turn out. Plank is still remembered as one of the greatest hurlers to ever don a "white elephant" uniform.

Most of the pastors in Philadelphia are making special announcements on Sunday, while the sports writers are turning out columns of publicity, urging a "sell out", out of respect to Plank's fifteen years of pitching for Connie Mack and his supporters.

Eleven-year-old "Eddie" Plank, son of the famous ball star, will pitch the first ball, while Mayor Kendrick is expected to receive it. The Gettysburg college band may make the trip and parade through the streets of Philadelphia during Monday morning.

Town fans are planning a motorcade to leave here in the morning, returning immediately after the game.

LIONS HOST TO LADIES

The Gettysburg Lions' club will hold a ladies' night function next Monday evening. The Lions and Lionesses will go to Arendtsville where the Ladies' Aid society of the Lutheran church will serve supper at the Arendtsville Vocational school.

6 Weeks Old Boy To Get Good Home

Adams county's advertised baby has found a taker.

Mrs. Samuel Lerew, Gettysburg R. D., today took Robert Guy Miller, six-weeks-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Miller, of near Gettysburg, from the Warner hospital, with the parents' consent. Mrs. Lerew plans to adopt the child, it is said.

Last week the father advertised for a home for the child, stating that, owing to the illness of his wife, he was unable to take care of the youngster. The Millers have two other young children.

Robert Guy was said by hospital authorities to be a healthy, thriving child. He had been at the hospital nearly four weeks.

VETERAN DIES AT ILLINOIS HOME

Brother of Lieutenant Stonesifer Was Wounded While Carrying Companion to Safety.

Lieut. I. S. Stonesifer, West Middle street, has received word of the death of his brother, Eli Stonesifer, 83, at Springfield, Illinois, on Sunday. The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon and interment was made at Springfield.

Lieutenant Stonesifer, who is 83 years of age, is now the only surviving member of the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Stonesifer, his twelve brothers and sisters all having died.

Eli Stonesifer was a resident of Gettysburg and Adams county for many years and while residing here enlisted in the Union army during the Civil War. It is related of his experiences that during one of the many battles in which he was engaged, he was in the act of carrying John "Peck" Tate from the field to a dressing station for the wounded, the latter having been hit by a bullet, when he himself was wounded.

Of the Stonesifer family, five of the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Stonesifer were veterans of the Civil War and two of their sons-in-law also saw service.

Surviving Eli Stonesifer are his widow and one daughter, Mrs. Mable Click, of Springfield, and Lieutenant Stonesifer, a brother.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET SATURDAY

Party to Reorganize For Coming Campaign; Reed to Withdraw As County Chairman.

The annual re-organization meeting of the Adams county Republican club will be held Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the club rooms, Baltimore street, Samuel Reed, president, announced today.

Republican candidates, nominated in the recent primary, are being urged to attend the meeting, as well as present members and their friends. Plans for the club's activities during the campaign will be discussed and, if possible, a definite program decided upon.

Election of officers also will take place at Saturday's meeting. Mr. Reed, who resides in Cumberland township, near Gettysburg, has announced that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself as president. E. C. Moser, Gettysburg, is secretary-treasurer of the organization.

After the business session, refreshments will be served.

GET BIG GAME IN CANADIAN ROCKIES

Three grizzly bears, a like number of moose, a half dozen caribou and the same number of mountain sheep fell before the guns of three hunters, one of whom was formerly a resident of Gettysburg, in the wilds of British Columbia.

H. G. Sigler, who lived here at one time, but who is now a resident of Hummelstown, in company with H. S. Goodhart, Harrisburg, and C. S. Moore, Reading, returned recently from a five weeks hunting trip in the Canadian Rockies where they killed these specimens of the "big game" of North America.

News and Comment by THE EDITOR

Wide interest was displayed throughout the county in the official primary election figures published exclusively Wednesday in The Gettysburg Times, showing the vote for all candidates for contested offices in both Old Parties.

The tabulation revealed some interesting sidelights on the primaries.

Although he didn't win the nomination, County Commissioner C. A. Hershey, seeking renomination from the Democrats, disproved conclusively the old saying that "a man is without honor in his home community." Mr. Hershey carried his home township of Franklin, receiving 108 votes, which was more than twice as many as the next man of the 11 candidates got in the same township.

Fellow townsmen of M. A. Garvin, veteran railroadman, gave him a fine complimentary vote as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for associate judge. The first ward of Gettysburg gave him 166 votes, the second ward, 124 and the third ward, 102.

George W. Reichle, of Gettysburg, carried 32 districts of the county and tied for high in two others, in a field of four candidates for the Democratic nomination for county treasurer. Of the 51 voting districts, he lost only seven. He received the largest plurality of the candidates for the various offices in the Democratic primary, with a lead of 1086 over his nearest rival.

McSherrystown second ward turned out the heaviest Democratic vote of all the precincts in the county, with 287 votes cast there. Conewago township was a close second with 284 votes cast. In striking comparison, Conewago turned out only 22 Republican voters. Gettysburg first ward cast the largest number of Republican votes.

On the Republican side, Charles B. Tate received a fine complimentary vote for sheriff from his fellow citizens of Gettysburg.

William M. Deatrick, of Biglerville R. D. 4, received the largest vote given any candidate for a contested office in the Republican primary, with 1966 for director of the poor. John Van Dyke, who also received the nomination for director of the poor from the Republicans, polled the second highest vote for a contested office, with 1557, although Mr. Anderson, who lost out in this contest, was only 57 votes behind him.

Many other things of interest can be gleaned from these official primary figures by careful study on the part of the political student.

When Abraham Lincoln called for 75,000 volunteers at the beginning of the Civil War, Jonathan and Henry Roten left their father's rooftop in West Virginia to enlist. Jonathan joined the hosts of Blue, Henry the hosts of Gray. From that day, sixty-six years ago, they did not see each other until recently, when Henry traveled 1,500 miles from his home, Fort Worth, Texas, to visit his brother and one-time enemy, at Huntington, West Virginia.

Some time ago Henry heard of the death of his sister, Mrs. Mary Baldwin, in Scott county, Virginia, and determined to learn, if possible, what had become of (Continued on Second Page.)

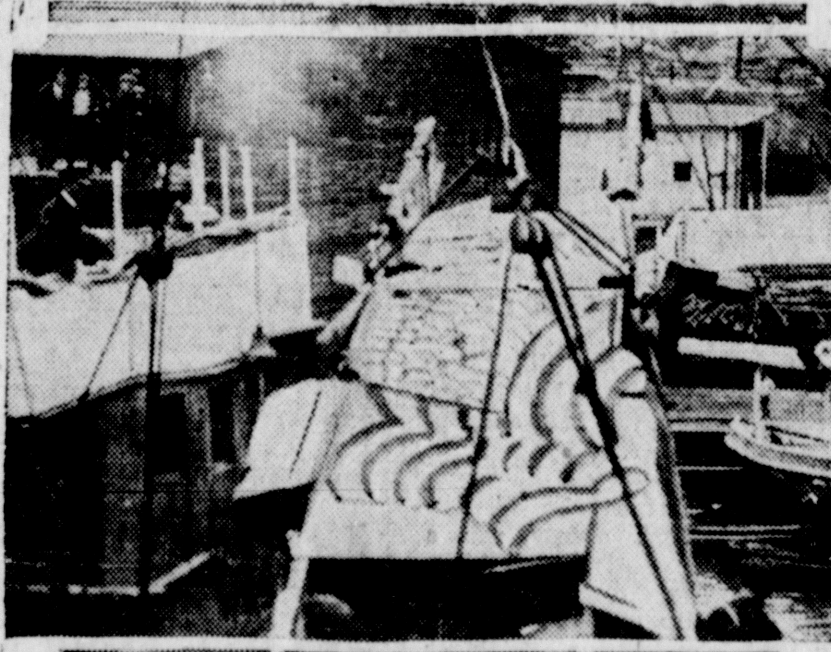

Y. M. SECRETARY TO BEGIN DUTIES

Oliver A. Peterson, graduate of the University of North Dakota, has been chosen as Y. M. C. A. secretary at Gettysburg college, succeeding W. W. "Bill" Wood, who resigned when he accepted the position of head football coach at Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn. Mr. Peterson will assume his new duties about October 1. Roy Sloop and Harry Gracey have been in charge of "Y" work since Mr. Wood left.

The new secretary comes highly recommended. During his undergraduate days at the University of North Dakota he was interested in the work of the Lutheran Students' Association of America, and in 1925 was chosen business manager of the association's official organ, "The Big Inkwell." This publication was later changed to "The American Lutheran Student." Mr. Peterson was president of the school's Y. M. C. A. during his senior year at college. He is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity and was a member of the R. O. T. C.

ARREST 8 IN COW TESTING FIGHT

Farmers Who Interfered With State Police In Search Of Animal In Custody.

Accused of obstructing legal process, seven farmers and one woman were arrested this morning in Hope-well township, York county, by forty state troopers, including Sergeant Joseph Merrifield and Trooper Alfred Verbecken, of the local substation. Captain Paul B. Stout, commander of Troop E, Harrisburg, was in charge of the officers.

The arrests are the outcome of the efforts of agents of the state bureau of animal industry to take a cow from the farm of Augustus Diehl, Hopewell township. Mr. and Mrs. Diehl yesterday prevented the agents and two state police from taking the cow, it is said.

This morning Captain Stout and his troopers went to the Diehl farm and found the animal missing. The cow is said to have been tested several weeks ago and found to be tubercular.

Members of the Farmers' protective association, who had prevented the officers from carrying out their duties yesterday, appeared on the scene today and tried to again interfere, it is said, with a search being made for the animal.

Mr. and Mrs. Diehl were two of those arrested. Four of the eight resisted arrest and were roughly handled by the state police, it is said.

The cow is said to be the only one the Diehls possessed.

Gobblers to be "Scarce as Hen's Teeth" is Report

If turkeys elsewhere in the United States are as scarce as they are in Adams county there will be few to grace the Thanksgiving Day table at any price. That is the prediction of poultry raisers in Adams county, particularly those who specialize in turkey culture.

"Black Head," sometimes known as the "appendicitis of turkeys," has caused the deaths of hundreds of young fowls, according to leading growers. This disease, an internal disorder, is incurable, the poultrymen declare, and does not make its appearance until the birds are six weeks old.

Adams county usually supplies a large number of turkeys for nearby city markets in November, but poultrymen say they will scarcely have enough birds to meet the demand of the local trade.

One turkey fancier, Harry VanDyke, Goldenville, began his season with 133 fowls. "Black Head" and wet weather have caused the death of one hundred of his "crop." Another poultryman who began with more than 200 birds has less than half of them left. Many persons who hatched smaller broods of turkeys are reported to have lost all of them.

Dealers from city poultry concerns usually come into Adams county about November 1 to look over the flocks and to deal with the farmers for the sale of their birds for the Thanksgiving trade. Until then no price for turkeys has been set, but one farmer said, if turkeys are as scarce elsewhere as they are in Adams county, the price will be almost prohibitive.

SEED REMOVED FROM BRONCHIAL TUBES OF CHILD

Infant Daughter Of Emmitsburg Physician Had Watermelon Seed In Tubes.

On the positive diagnosis of physicians at the Annie M. Warner hospital that the child had a foreign body in her bronchial tube, experts at the Dr. Chevalier Jackson clinic at Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, removed a watermelon seed from the right bronchus of Ann Marie Stinson, 13-month-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Stinson, Emmitsburg, Wednesday.

The child is believed to have swallowed the seed about two months ago, although the parents themselves are unable to say just when it occurred. The child apparently suffered no ill effects until recently when she was noticed to be breathing with difficulty and was not in normal health. The parents brought their daughter to the Warner hospital for an examination and X-ray. Although the X-ray pictures failed to show the foreign body in the child's bronchial tube because X-rays pass through vegetable organisms, physicians at the local institution, basing their diagnosis on a previous case of a similar nature, agreed that there was an obstruction near the right lung.

The child was taken to the Jefferson hospital on Tuesday and the watermelon seed was removed Wednesday with a bronchoscope.

Today the little girl was reported to be resting as well as could be expected, and unless unforeseen complications arise, she will be brought home within a week.

HEADLIGHT CLINIC TESTED 1500 CARS

Officials Pleased With Number of Motorists Who Had Lights Adjusted.

Adams county's first headlight clinic, conducted here Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings by the headlight squad of the state highway motor patrol, under the auspices of the Gettysburg Motor club of Adams county, was "gratifying" in every respect to officials of the motor club, John D. Keith, president, said today.

Headlights of approximately 1,500 machines were examined and tested, and many of them adjusted, by the special patrol squad. Members of the squad expressed satisfaction with the number of headlights found to be in proper focus.

The clinic was conducted without cost to any of the motorists, who were loud in their praise of this service offered by the Adams county A. A. A. The lights were tested on West Middle street at West street.

On Monday night 680 motorists were in line for the free service, an indication, it was pointed out, of the interest in the clinic and the desire of automobile drivers to have their lights conform with the state regulations. Four hundred and fifty motorists lined up to have their lights examined and adjusted on Tuesday night, and about 300 showed up for the Wednesday clinic.

The examiners brought their own equipment with them. The squad travels in a special automobile and goes anywhere in the state there is a call for its services. No stickers were given to motorists after the adjustment of their headlights, granting them immunity from arrest, because, it was pointed out, the lights may soon become out of focus, owing to a jolt or the change of a bulb. Periodic examination of headlights at garages and service stations is urged by the motor patrol.

the rest of his family, of whom he had not heard in more than forty years. A letter to Postmaster Carl Varnum at Huntington elicited the information that Jonathan was still living in that city. David, a younger brother, was dead.

"Did you take a shot at each other during the war?" the brothers were asked.

"I don't think so; Henry was always too fast a runner for me," replied Jonathan, who is 85 and weighs 109 pounds.

"I am sure we didn't, or Jonathan would not be living," retorted Henry, who is 83 and tips the scales at 192.

The late Judge John W. Bittinger, of York county, was a great grandson of Nicholas Bittenger. The Bittenger family was originally spelled Beidinger. In 1736 John Adams Beidinger arrived from Alsace, aged 39 years, with Peter Beidinger, aged 34 years. They were probably brothers. The former located near Abbottstown, where he died in 1768. His son, Nicholas, was a man of prominence in Colonial days. In the Revolution he served on the committee of safety and also as a captain in Colonel Swoop's regiment of the famous "Flying Camp" that rendered such valuable service in New York and New Jersey in 1776-77.

Monday night a man robbed a filling station in Kansas City. He was arrested shortly afterward and the next day, Tuesday, says the Kansas City Times, was brought to trial in court. He was given a sentence of ten years in the penitentiary. All in less than twenty-four hours. On Monday two men held up and robbed a bank at Kingston, Oklahoma. Within an hour they were under arrest and part of the money was recovered. The following day, Tuesday, they were brought to trial, were convicted, sentenced to twenty-five years each and were started immediately to the penitentiary. Again, in less than twenty-four hours.

That kind of procedure takes all the profit out of the bandit business. It makes crime generally unpopular. It takes all the imagined heroism out of the hold-up trade and leaves the bandit and the thug a sorry spectacle, without a shred of pride in their profession. It creates public confidence in law enforcement officials and in the courts. It protects society. It is mighty good business and ought not to be so rare that it attracts particular attention.

Chestnut trees, which were killed by blight fifteen years ago, have again put in their appearance in nearby mountain ranges. H. A. Beard, while walking through the mountains near his home at Pond Bank, eight miles north of Waynesboro, came across a number of young chestnut trees. He says that all of the trees seem healthy and free from blight and that the branches are laden with burs.

He took a branch to Waynesboro, which contained eleven burs in a single cluster. Each bur contained a large kernel. Mountain residents believe chestnut trees are due for a return to the mountains, where they stood unmolested until the blight fifteen years ago and which caused the destruction of every tree of that species.

DEBATERS WILL MEET CAMBRIDGE

College Team Will Tour Southern Colleges This Year On Annual Trip.

Members of the debating society of Gettysburg college held their initial smoker at the college Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening. Short talks were made by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, Dr. Thomas L. Cline, Dean W. E. Tilberg, Prof. Francis C. Mason and Captain E. H. Malone. Mrs. Malone gave several banjo selections and readings.

The program for the coming year was outlined, announcement being made that the debating team of Cambridge college, England, would be on the schedule this year and also that a tour of the southern colleges would be undertaken. The schedule for the southern trip has not as yet been arranged, but it is expected that it will include twelve or fifteen colleges in states as far south as Georgia.

Inter-class debates will be held this year, with gold and silver medals to be awarded to the winners of first and second place. Elimination meets will be held within several weeks after which debates between teams representing the four classes of the college will be held.

Among the well known dirt-track speedsters who will be seen in competition are Ray Keech with his Miller Special, with which he won the Langhorne 100 mile event this season; Rocco Binaggio, of Turin, Italy; Phil Testa, of Palermo, Italy; Johnny Caece, Norfolk, Va.; "Bud" Campbell, Richmond, Va.; Sam Elliott, Brooklyn; Eddie Mack, Albany, and a number of other dirt-track speed notables. DOTY MAY HAVE TO SERVE ENLISTMENT

Paris, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The immediate future of Benet J. Doty, American, who was pardoned Tuesday by the French government, after having served a part of his eight-year prison term for desertion from the foreign legion, rests entirely in the hands of the French ministry of war and was still undecided last night.

Whether Doty, free and untrammelled, is allowed to return home to the United States, or whether under a none too discreet escort he is taken to the foreign legion headquarters to serve the rest of his five year enlistment with them, is yet to be determined officially. The chances are that according to French military law Doty will be taken to Sidi-Bel-Abbes, Algeria, to serve the remaining 49 months of his engagement.

The French ministry of war beyond stating that Doty's pardon would be complete when signed by President Doumergue refused to divulge what the American member of the foreign legion would be called upon to do afterwards.

FISHER TO ATTEND SERIES OPENER

Harrisburg, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Assuming that the Pittsburgh Pirates "bring home the bacon," Governor Fisher will attend the opening game of the world's series in Pittsburgh, he said Wednesday.

The governor is a "died-in-the-wool" fan and has followed the fortunes of the Pirates for years. He also played baseball years ago on the scrub team of the Indiana team which he contends was the best amateur team of the time.

3 ASPHYXIATED BECAUSE OF CAT

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A pet cat which slept on a gas stove is believed responsible for the deaths by asphyxiation of George Snipe, 73, his wife and their 14-year-old son, whose bodies were found today by firemen in a bedroom off the kitchen of their home.

Neighbors called firemen when they smelled gas fumes coming from the house.

Mrs. Sarah Prosser and Mrs. Annie V. Jacobs spent several days this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wolfe.

Mrs. Willis Worley is spending a week with friends in Philadelphia.

PIRATES NEED 2 MORE GAMES TO HOLD PLACE

New York, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Rain and an open date caused a pause in the National League pennant scramble yesterday. The league leading Pirates had a recess while the second place Cardinals were rained out at Cincinnati, leaving a margin of two games separating the two front contenders. The Giants defeated the Phillies to gain half a contest.

The standing: Games W. L. Pct. To Play
Pittsburgh . . . 93 58 .616 3
St. Louis . . . 91 60 .603 3
New York . . . 90 61 .596 3

The giants can only tie for first place in the event the Pirates lose all three games left to play and the Cardinals take but two of three. The New Yorkers would have to sweep their three contests. To clinch the bunting, Pittsburgh has to come out in front in two contests providing the Cardinals capture all three. The standing then would be:

W. L. Pct.
Pittsburgh . . . 95 59 .617
St. Louis . . . 94 60 .610

STOKES TO PLAY WITH DES MOINES

Emmitsburg Lad to Rejoin Western League Club Next Year; Was With Decatur.

Emmitsburg, Md., Sept. 29.—Arthur Stokes, who was a member of the pitching staff of Des Moines club, of the Western league, during the past season, is here on a visit with his parents, Burgess and Mrs. J. Harry Stokes.

Stokes, who has been in professional baseball for the last eight years, was a member of the Philadelphia Athletics two years ago where he remained for the greater part of the season. Connie Mack thought very highly of the Emmitsburg lad, but decided that he needed a little more seasoning and sent him back to the Western league.

Due to a sore arm, contracted in spring training, Stokes has not been doing so well this season. Toward the latter part of the year, Manager Collins, of the Des Moines club, who is very fond of Stokes, thought that a change of climate would bring him around and sent him to the Decatur club, of the Three I league. Stokes did fine pitching with that club for the last few weeks of the season and was coming around in fine shape and hopes to be himself at the beginning of next year when he will return to Des Moines.

Stokes will spend a few weeks here visiting when he will return to Pittsburgh where he will join his wife who is visiting her parents there.

Stokes was very enthusiastic over the Emmitsburg team winning the Frederick county league pennant as the side arm twirler got his early experience on the local field here.

REYNOLDS FOUND IN ST. LOUIS

Head of Tobacco Company Discovered at Inn With Young Woman.

St. Louis, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Richard J. Reynolds, president of the Reynolds Airways, Inc., was found here Tuesday night according to officials of a private detective agency. Reynolds said he had not been lost and discovered that a search was being made for him only Tuesday morning when he read the story in morning newspapers.

Reynolds admitted his identity, the agency said.

Reynolds was found by operatives of the Hargrave Detective agency at the Grand inn, in North Grand avenue, in the company of a young woman whose name was not learned. The agency was tipped off to the whereabouts of the missing heir by a man whose name was withheld, who had offered to produce him for $3000.

The detectives were told to go to the Grand inn, where they would find Reynolds "in the fifth booth at the left." He was found there with his woman companion who disappeared shortly after. She was described as about 24 years old, blonde and well dressed.

HUBISACK HURT DURING PRACTICE

Star Quarterback May Be Out of Game When Bullets Meet Penn State, Saturday.

Gloom spread over the college campus today when it was learned that Johnny Hubisack, midget quarterback of the Bullets' grid squad, may not be able to play in Saturday's battle with Penn State.

Hubisack is believed to have torn a muscle in his thigh during practice session Tuesday evening. He did not register a complaint at the time, but the following day he was removed from scrimmage and given medical attention.

In last night's mix-up Hubisack was not used. He was out on the field, but took part in very light exercise only.

Coach Bream does not know whether Hubisack will be in shape for the Penn State tilt or not. He fears that a severe strain on the injured muscle may bring further developments that might keep the star back out of several games. In that event it would be wiser to keep him out of this week's game and save him for other battles.

If Hubisack's injury does not improve by Friday morning, Coach Bream said he would use McMillan as quarterback.

Gardner is also on the sick list, as is Wetzel, although the latter has shown marked improvement with his injured knee this week.

The Bullets leave Saturday for State College. A large crowd of local rooters is planning to make the trip Saturday morning.

OIL ON CREEK BURNS; FISH DIE

Codorus Creek at York Becomes Raging Inferno When Scum on Surface Is Ignited.

Children playing with matches and a broken oil pipe line yesterday turned Codorus creek, which passes through York, into a river of fire, threatening to destroy the business section of the city.

Firemen, darning death amid the flames and dense smoke which rose above the surface of the stream, fought valiantly on the top of a small dam near the edge of the residential section and above the business district. They prevented the flames from reaching warehouses and business buildings which line the creek.

The flames terrorized many residents. Hastily their belongings were gathered. Throngs packed the streets. Police and firemen succeeded in allaying fears.

The blaze started when children tossed burning matches onto the water covered with about forty thousand gallons of oil which poured into the creek when a pipe line carrying crude oil burst at the plant of the Pennsylvania Gas and Electric company.

Although gas company officials had stated that the oil was from a broken pipe in the plant, according to D. E. Bahn, of the sanitary water board and the state fish commission, the one-half-inch scum of oil which covered the creek at noon had been cut loose from the plant at 3 a. m.

"The responsibility for this whole thing will be placed on the gas company," Bahn said after the fire had been extinguished. "Every particle of life in the stream between here and the Susquehanna river has been killed."

"My report will go direct to the office of the attorney general in Harrisburg, and the single charge of negligence on the part of the gas company will cover everything. The officials who refuse to talk today can tell their story in court later on."

"The oil now has reached to the river and there is the possibility of other fires at any point along the course of the creek, which should be patrolled night and day, until the oil has gone away."

W. C. Stevens, representing the state game commission, was also present at the fire. With Bahn he had investigated the oil leakage earlier in the day in response to complaints made by residents of Stevens avenue, near the gas company's plant.

BELIEVE FLIER'S BODY WAS SEEN

Harbor Grace, N. F., Sept. 29.—(AP)—A report that the body of a man with a helmet on the head similar to those worn by aviators had been seen floating near Belle Island was current here today. There was no confirmation.

The story as told here was that two men had reported that while going from the mainland to Belle Island in a motor boat they had seen the body and tried to recover it with their boat hooks but that the heavy swell on the ocean's surface prevented this.

MOTHER OF 3 KILLS HUSBAND

Newcastle, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Ina Whitlaugh faced a charge of murder today because of the death last night of her husband, William R. Whitlaugh, a railroad fireman, from bullet wounds alleged to have been inflicted by the wife in a jealous rage. Three small children were made fat-

SYNOPSIS
Fabien, good and handsome youth of France, trains for the priesthood; but meets and loves Manon Lescaut, beautiful orphan, whose rascally brother, realizing her worldly value, barters her to Ravoit, rich connoisseur of women. Fabien saves her and carries her off to Paris, where they live happily together. Manon's brother steals her for Ravoit; she escapes, and searches vainly for Fabien. Circumstances force her to surrender to Ravoit. Later, hearing she has quents a gambling place, Fabien goes there, reviles her and insults Ravoit.

The Comte had long since cultivated the habit of suppressing his anger and saving his energies for pleasure rather than for combat. It was far more gratifying. "I see that Monsieur is not even man enough to defend his lady! I bid you both good-bye." With a final significant look at Manon, Fabien bowed low and approached the stairs with a deadly calm that struck terror to Manon's numbed heart.

The people watched his departure with breathless silence and not until the massive doors had closed behind him did the tension relax. Then everyone began talking at once. "What a night—What a situation. Now, Manon could not hold her head so high in that sweet, innocent way of hers. Now the men could not refer to her as such a paragon of all that a woman should be." Thus the women's tongues rattled on.

As for the men: some were decently sorry about the whole wretched affair, while others were encouraged to think that, now, they too might have a chance with Manon. They had thought her different; apparently she was not.

The Comte had never experienced such annoyance. Trembling with resentment, one could hardly call it by a stronger name, he guided Manon from the room. In a few short moments the pomp and splendor of their arrival had vanished revealing, not the idol of Paris with her wealthy and polished escort but, two ordinary people stripped of all glamor and exposed to their friends and enemies as a common woman and a cowardly man.

Nana's laugh of deep, amused and satisfied revenge was the last sound Manon heard as the great doors closed behind them.

After leaving the gambling room, Fabien calmly walked outside of the building and with studied deliberation tipped the doorman. He overcame the desire to collapse by tensing every muscle and forcing his legs to move.

Faithful Tiberge emerged from the shadows where he had been waiting ever since Fabien entered the Club. He knew that his friend would be disillusioned and greatly in need of a guiding hand before the night was over, and he had appointed himself for the task, knowing that it would be both difficult and thankless.

Sensing Fabien's anguish, Tiberge followed and gripped him tenderly by the shoulder. At the touch of a comforting hand Fabien's control gave way. All of his pent up emotions broke loose and for a moment he rested against Tiberge, taking all the support that was offered.

"You were right," said Fabien simply. It was a tortured admission that meant the end of all earthly happiness.

"No wonder he looks crucified!" thought Tiberge. Although he had never experienced Fabien's emotions or known a woman's love, he understood the pangs of sorrow and suffering and knew the welcome comfort that comes from silent sympathy.

The two men went down the street, arm in arm, thinking—each one in his own way but neither saying a word.

It was dawn before they turned in at Tiberge's lodgings to discuss the future.

CHAPTER XIII

In the south of France was, and probably still is, the great Chateau Des Grioux where Fabien spent his early youth as the favored son of devoted parents.

It was a rather austere and well ordered home radiating dignity and supreme respectability. From the time that Fabien was a boy soloist in the church choir it was planned that he should some day become a Priest. Consequently, it is easy to picture the sorrow and disgrace that descended upon his Mother and Father and brothers when word came that Fabien had forsaken his vows to live a life of shame with some unknown girl in Paris.

Tiberge was a life long friend of the family and went to them with the hope of assuaging their grief. "Your son is not lost to you, Sir," he said, "Perhaps even now he repents of his boyish folly." "Every ambition I had was centered on him," tonelessly replied the grief stricken father. "He has betrayed my faith and broken his mother's heart."

For a moment Tiberge stood with bowed head, then with face alight he continued, "But his natural piety will outlast this whim of the senses."

"I wonder—I wonder!" reflected the Father.

"It is true, sir. You need worry no more about Fabien. He has at last given up all thought of Manon, and is entering St. Sulpice to resume his studies for the Priesthood."

A wonderful sense of peace and relief spread over the fine old gentleman's face. "Thank God," he said fervently. "When you return take him our love, our blessings and our forgiveness."

When Tiberge delivered this message, the repentant son was deeply grateful and it lifted a great burden from his soul. He dearly loved his family and now that the harrowing incidents of the past few months were over, it was difficult to understand how he had been so able to completely forget and neglect them.

However, Fabien's resolve to re-enter St. Sulpice came only after a tremendous struggle to forget the Manon he loved and the perfidious woman he thought she had become. In the end it was Tiberge who persuaded him to renounce the pleasures of the world and enter into holy orders. The plan also suited Fabien's changed outlook on life. He imagined himself entirely safe from the dangers of love and honestly believed he had reached the stage in life where prayerful meditation was worth more than the gratification of his earthly appetites, even those he had enjoyed with Manon.

Fabien was determined to lead a holy and christian life with the hours so divided between study and religion that there would be no leisure for the perilous pleasures of love. He was convinced that he had lost all esteem for Manon. Yet her image, with its exquisite features, was engraved on his very heart's core and would always remain uneffaced. He was, also, positive that no other woman could tempt him because he detested them as a class and as individuals he did not care to even converse with another.

For nearly a year now, Fabien had been devoting himself to study. His peace of mind was restored. His past contact with love enabled him to understand many passages in the classics which had been previously obscure, and he looked up on the world with new eyes—eyes that saw in the beautiful influence of the Church another life extending into the years ahead. In this other life the memory of Manon would be consigned to eternal oblivion.

The time was drawing near for Fabien to take his public examinations in theology, and at such events it was customary for the names of students to be posted so that the public could attend if they were interested.

It happened that Manon saw Fabien's name in this connection and lost no time in availing herself of the opportunity to attend. Ladies were forced to sit in special seats behind a screen so that Fabien had no idea of her presence. Every day for a whole week she was there, watching and waiting, longing for a chance to see and speak with him privately. The examinations ended and Manon's wish remained ungratified. She knew that Fabien was to take his final vows on the following day, and as her whole future happiness depended upon seeing him before that time she determined to throw convention to the winds and seek him out at the Church. Her love was not dead, in fact it had matured until it was the only vital thing in her life.

Indians Are Rescuers In Strand Picture

Indians attack a town of settlers with no cavalry to come to the rescue in "The Overland Stage," starring Ken Maynard, which shows at the Strand Theatre tonight, Friday and Saturday. Now, it has apparently been a set rule of motion pictures which have a scene of Indians attacking settlers to have the United States cavalry come dashing to the rescue, banners flying, sabers gleaming in the sunshine, horses snorting as they gallop in beautiful approved positions to succor the whites.

THE FINE ARTS

Give us more lovers of beauty,
More lovers of gardens, and we Shall lessen our need for your cannon
And iron-clad ships of the sea.

Give us more lovers of music,
More lovers of pictures and books,
And we'll fill up the world with good neighbors
And dwindle the numbers of crooks.

For hatred and malice and scheming
And envy and cunning and greed
And all that makes crime a tempta-

Are not in an art lover's creed.

Who gives his attention to beauty,
Who cherishes laughter and song
And is thrilled by the glory of planets
Not often another will wrong.

In gardens, in childhood, in painting,
In music are safety and peace,
So give us more lovers of beauty
That hatred and quarrels may cease.

The time table at the Tickville depot, which was printed with chalk a few years ago, is getting so dim now it can barely be read above a whisper.

director of the picture, decided to be different with their production. Hence it is Indians who rescue the settlers from Indians! This is practically one of the first times in which the Indians have not been made to appear as the villains.

"The Overland Stage" is one of the few productions in the history of motion pictures which shows the American Indian as he really was. A willing friend of the white man so long as he was treated right. But when a dissolute gambler, to gain his ends, deceived them with stories about the white man and his treatment of the Indian, one band rose in its wrath to wreak vengeance.

Another band of Indians, who did not believe the tales of wrong doing, came to the rescue. How peace was restored and the villain awarded his just dues will be shown with "The Overland Stage" playing at the Strand Theatre.

"What made you twinkle your nose?" asked Downy Woodpecker, turning to the little rabbit, who you remember in the last story was testing the wind to find if it carried the scent of Danny Fox's old fur overcoat.

"Just to make sure there was no danger near," answered the bunny boy.

"Billy Breeze is often as useful as a telephone wire," laughed Chatterbox, the Red Squirrel.

"What do you mean?" asked Downy Woodpecker, curiously.

"I mean just what I say," retorted Chatterbox. "If we four-footed folk find a dangerous smell in the wind, we don't ask questions. No, sir, we take precious good care to get out of the way; a small hollow space is what we look for. Then we use our eyes to find out whether the disagreeable person is coming our way."

"The scent in the wind tells us who is about without our asking who is on the wire," laughed the little rabbit.

The next minute the little bunny's nose was all a-twinkle, and looking up at his two friends in the treetop, he exclaimed,

"The Big Brown Bear is coming along;
The scent of his coat in the breeze is strong."

Sure enough, the little rabbit had made no mistake, for in a few minutes the old furry animal ambled up and with a good-natured "Howdy," sat down beneath the tree.

"What have you been doing?" asked Chatterbox, as the Big Brown Bear wiped his lips on the back of his furry paw.

"Guess you would love to know," laughed the Big Brown Bear. "You like them, too?"

"Like what?" asked Chatterbox, with a wink at the little rabbit.

"Perhaps they taste better when well dried," went on the Big Brown Bear, with a sigh of satisfaction, for he had just finished a tasty meal and felt mighty contented. Yes, sir, that old bear was eating as much as he could stow away in his stomach in order to be as fat as possible by the time the snow flew.

"Better when well dried," repeated Chatterbox, thoughtfully. "Oh, now I know. Mushrooms, Mr. Big Brown Bear."

"You guessed right the very first time," laughed the good natured animal. "Yes, Chatterbox, you certainly did. How did you manage it?"

"Did you leave any?" asked the little red squirrel.

"Can't say that I did," answered the old Bear, with a grin. "I've got to put on all the fat I can before cold weather comes along. Any chance I get to stuff, well, I stuff. Yes, sir. I stuff and stuff and stuff."

When you think that I must live through the cold winter on my stored-up fat, you can't blame me. No, sir, you shouldn't blame, at any rate, for doing just what you squirrels do, only differently," and with a smile at the little rabbit, he went on to explain that bears and woodchucks store up their winter food in the shape of fat under their skins, while squirrels and chipmunks store nuts and grain in their little storehouses.

"Nobody can rob me of my food," added the old Bear, with a chuckle. "No, sir. No one can break through and steal the fruit of my hard labor. My old skin is as good as an iron safe," and with another chuckle and a couple of grunts of satisfaction, he crossed his legs and smiled up into the treetops.

Gentlemen Prefer Steak!

Here's some information for wives on what kind of meat their husbands really like the best. No it isn't chicken! That doesn't even figure in the list, according to a questionnaire recently answered by a large number of men. These are the preferences, in the order of their popularity:

Steak
Ham
Liver and Onions
Fish
Chop Suey

So now you know what to cook for dinner if a large request of some kind is to follow the food! But let us make this suggestion. Be careful the way you cook that favorite dish. Even No. 1 on the list has its pitfalls. You'll find that a good gas range is a safeguard. Broil his next steak on a gas range. And then be ready for compliments!

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

REPOSE

WE ARE affected by the attitude of others quite as much as by our own self-will and determination.

A calm, quiet person makes us feel calm and quiet, whereas a nervous person does just the opposite.

The big city, with its noise and turmoil, frays the edges of one's nerves and in time beats one's resolves to take time, to go slow and not to mind the mad rush. On the other hand, the quiet and peace of the country soothes one clear to the depths and gives one greater confidence, because all one's powers react to the urge of one's plans and one feels more normal.

A great writer once told me that he rested a half hour every day after luncheon. I have often thought of this plan and have adopted it for myself. I find that I am then able to do much more in the afternoon and do it more efficiently.

The man who steps to the front of the stage in a crowded theatre at the sign of smoke and calmly tells the audience to quietly leave the theatre at once calms all under the control of his strength of will.

It was Napoleon's disregard of danger, and his constant bravery under all circumstances, that made his soldiers love him. One day he walked through a great hospital of his dying soldiers—and though, exposed to great danger because of contagion—his marvelous will power laughed at the possibility of his being affected. On he walked, cheering and encouraging those afflicted.

The personality of a calm person is like a delicate perfume that sweetens the air, like a cool breeze that comes in the wake of a hot day. How the very soul of a person smiles under the influence of a calm mind and presence.

Repose is something that everyone may aspire toward and that most may attain.

MT. HOPE

Mt. Hope.—Mr. and Mrs. John Gonder, of Altoona, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kump.

Mrs. Harry Kump and daughter, Iva, near Gettysburg, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lightner.

Miss Annie Metz, of McConnellsburg, visited last Friday with Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Metz of Virginia Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Spangler spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Kump.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Metz were the following: Mr. and Mrs. David Metz, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weaver, Mrs. Edward Olinger, Misses Drucie Metz, Catherine Fleming, Mary Gerold, Verna Kump and Helen Weaver, Charles McGlaughlin, Maurice Stoops, R. C. Kepner and son, Paul, and Guy Weaver.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hossler and daughter, Marian, Mrs. Hossler and daughter, Miss Cleo, of Cashtown; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sites and daughter, Anna Virginia, of Fairfield, and Misses Ruby and Margaret Mickle, of this place, visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Orndorff, near Hanover, Sunday.

Terrible Problem of Young Girls of About 13

Is the Madness of the Youth of the Present Day Leading to Disaster?

The records of social agencies do not justify the suave predictions of five years ago that the "flapper" would pass and the "sheik" was but a transitory pimple on the face of society. Flaming youth is more inflammable than ever. Our boy delinquents are bandits and killers. Our abandoned women are poor little "gay girls" of 12 and 13. Every parent should read the amazing "Official Revelations of the Horrors and Hazards Menacing American Youth Today" in next Sunday's "Philadelphia Record." It will give them something to think about.

That's only one of the remarkable features in this splendid newspaper. Another article tells about "Hunting Down Masked Torturers and Floggers of Women," and gives a pitiful story of inhuman and barbarous treatment of Mrs. Bertha A. Slay, who was flogged with hickory whips over a barrel.

This week's issue of the "Why Men Fail" series is written by Arthur H. Ruggles, M. D., professor of psychiatry and mental hygiene, Yale University, and deals with "The First Job." Many a man or woman has been fired from his first job only to achieve later success. The important thing is to realize the cause of failure and overcome it.

Radio fans will read with avidity General James G. Harbord's article on the future of radio. General Harbord is president of the Radio Corporation of America and speaks with authority.

"The Record's" Woman's Page is one of the brightest and most practical helps for women published. Helpful hints for home decoration and dress, the care of children and many other features of domestic life are treated authoritatively and interestingly.

Dr. Copeland's health hints are known the wide world over. Dr. Copeland is the United States Senator from the State of New York and gives vital and valuable care of the health in a philosophical way in the daily "Record."

"The Philadelphia Sunday Record" is steadily increasing in circulation and it will behoove you to order your copy in advance if you wish to make sure of it. A word to the wise.—adv.

MRS. BASSETT ALWAYS TIRED

Now in Good Health by Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lansing, Michigan.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound whenever I needed it. When I first used it I was so bad I could hardly walk across the room without crying. I was tired all the time. I think my trouble was coming on me for six months before I realized it. I read of your wonderful medicine in the paper, and my husband bought me a bottle, and after the first few doses I felt better, so kept on taking it until I was well and strong. I take it at times when I feel tired and it helps me. I will always have a good word for your medicine and tell anyone what good it has done me. I recommended it to my neighbor for her girl, who is sixteen years old, and it was just what she needed. She is feeling fine now, and goes to school every day."—Mrs. E. F. BASSETT, 216 South Hayford Avenue, Lansing, Michigan.

Do not continue to feel all run-down and half sick when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is sold by druggists everywhere. It is a root and herb medicine and has been used by women for over fifty years.

and Mrs. Mary Baker recently. Mr. and Mrs. John King and daughter, Freda, spent Saturday in Gettysburg. Miss Annie Metz, of McConnellsburg, visited Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Metz.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gerold and son, Frank, of Fayetteville, visited Sunday with Mrs. Katie Brough.

Pimples, Boils, Skin Eruptions

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils, and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S."

which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin; makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable. S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and sluggish. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water.—adv.

Seek Man Who Took Carlisle Girl In Car

Carlisle, Sept. 29.—(AP)—An unidentified man who snatched a 12-year-old girl from the sidewalk and drove her away in his automobile and later returning her to within a few blocks of her home Tuesday was the object of an extensive police search.

The girl, Esther Gilling, and a playmate, Loretta Hartzell, were in front of the Gilling home when a man drove up and asked about street numbers. As the girls approached the machine the man grabbed the Gilling girl and drove off with her.

The girls described the man as about 40 years old, driving a light gray touring car.

HOOVER COMPANY ANNOUNCES BIG RADIO PROGRAM

21 Big Stations In The Hook Up For Broadcasting Interesting Program.

The Hoover Company, manufacturers of the famous Hoover Sweepers, have announced a half hour of broadcasting for each Thursday evening for the next thirteen weeks.

Included in the big hook up of stations are many that Gettysburg "fans" enjoy listening to. WRC of Washington, WEAF of New York, WGY of Schenectady, WTAM of Cleveland, and WGN of Chicago, are only a few of the 21 stations included in the list.

Every Thursday evening from 8:30 to 9 p. m., the Hoover Company will broadcast an unusual and distinctive concert—something that never has been used before. It will consist of four quartets, known as the Hoover Quartet of Quartets—one group will be composed of four male vocalists, one of four stringed instruments, one of four brass instruments or horns and one of four reed or wind instruments. These quartets will entertain singly and in "ensemble" throughout each program. They promise that the character of the music will be neither too classical or too popular—they hope to please all tastes by striking a happy medium between the two.

Local representative of the Hoover Company is G. W. Weaver & Son, of Center Square.—adv.

This test amazed us

On a roof exposed to the mercies of the weather for a year, Devoe Mirrolac Enamel proved its resistance to the effects of water, cold and heat

BUT please don't get the idea that Mirrolac Enamel is merely durable and waterproof. It's the most beautiful enamel we've ever seen—made in 22 lovely, glossy colors. We recommend it especially for outside use on porch furniture, automobiles, bicycles, canoes, toys, etc. And it's just as good inside on walls, woodwork and furniture.

SLUGGING MORON ATTACKS GIRL

Pittsburgh, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A "slugging moron" who has left a half dozen women senseless on the sidewalks in various parts of the city during the past week struck again Tuesday night.

His victim was Miss Harriet Werle, 19 year old music teacher, who was attacked within sight of her home. The slugger leaped from the bushes along side the sidewalk and grabbed her about the waist. As Miss Werle screamed his fist shot out leaving her unconscious on the sidewalk.

Detectives, comparing the methods used by the sluggers in other similar cases reported in the last week, believed a demented man is responsible.

Mrs. Maur'ee Lightner and daughter, Ruth, visited last Friday with Mrs. Lightner's daughter, Mrs. Emory Baker.

Frigidaire prevents the unseen mold that imperils health

NOT for a minute would you think of risking the health of yourself and family by serving food on which mold appears. But do you realize that mold is often present from ten to twelve hours before it is visible to the naked eye? The microscope reveals that this is true.

The only protection against this unseen danger is to keep perishable foods in a dry atmosphere and in a refrigerating temperature of less than 50°. Frigidaire electric refrigeration meets both these requirements.

With all its advantages, Frigidaire is low in price. It can now be bought for as small a sum as $195 delivered. And terms are so convenient that it is easily within your family budget. See a demonstration now.
